Seniors' Link

- Senior Link Services was developed through a willingness among partner agencies to share in the work
- It was named as a result of the “link” with the Midwestern Adult Day Services.
- Throughout its existence, the Senior Link remains committed to a cross sector approach

Seniors' Link

- Maximizing the use of limited resources, quality of life and independence are maintained as long as possible
- Sharing services and resources helps to make these scarce funds go further
- Stimulating activities, in familiar settings, with consistent peer groups, staffing and volunteers may avoid premature placement in LTC facilities by providing alternative community activities

Seniors' Link

- “It’s not just a partnership it’s a relationship”
- Relationships growing out of the Huron Trillium Partnership Table; that led to the formation of the Seniors' Link, have ensured that there is greater understanding related to the needs of individuals who are aging and who have a developmental disability
- Their right to live in their community, with dignity, as long as possible is being recognized as valid

Seniors' Link

- Services are available to 10 individuals once per week on the premises of Wingham & District Community Living Association
- There are individuals with intellectual challenges who are at least 50 years of age or are experiencing symptoms of dementia; individuals with dementia from LTC facilities who may or may not have an intellectual challenge

Seniors' Link

- There are two staff and an assistant paid to support the individuals
- There are currently two volunteers assisting (one of the individuals who volunteers actually lives in a LTC facility)
- The service runs from 11-3 and there is 1 hour of preparation prior to each session and 1 hour of planning time after each session to prepare for the next week(s).
- The average cost per annum for this service is $18,000 (or $1,800 per person).

Seniors' Link

- Individuals who are associated with Wingham & District Community Living Association now attend the Midwestern Adult Day Services independently
- Communication between staff of these two organizations remains fluid; ensuring that there is ongoing, beneficial collaboration that supports individual needs

now exist in the community

Both are fully inclusive
